Introduction

We often admire how successful businesses have clear goals and strategies. A crucial aspect of this success comes from having a mission statement, a vision statement, and a set of core values. These elements define a company's purpose, aspirations, and guiding principles. This approach allows people with diverse backgrounds, beliefs, and personalities to work together effectively towards a common goal.

Now, imagine applying this structured approach to a family unit. Just as every employee in a business brings their unique self to the table, each family member has their own traits, aspirations, and views. But what can bring a family together, similar to a flourishing company, is a shared mission, a united vision for the future, and a set of core values that reflect what the family stands for.

A family mission statement outlines the family's purpose and what they hope to achieve. It serves as a reminder of the family's collective goals and helps guide decision-making. The vision statement describes the family's future aspirations and offers direction and inspiration for the family's long-term goals. Core values define the family's beliefs and principles, guide behavior, and help family members make choices that align with their shared values.

Integrating these elements into a family context doesn't suppress individuality but encourages it within a framework that fosters unity and collaboration. It allows family members to pursue their personal goals and express their unique personalities while contributing to the family's collective journey. This intentional approach to family life can strengthen bonds, improve communication, and provide a sense of belonging and purpose.

Through this Family ID Masterclass, we guide you and your family through the creation of your own unique Core Values, Mission Statement, and Vision Statement. The program is broken down into five unique sessions, each building on the last to help your family unite with a renewed sense of identity, purpose, and direction.

TIPS FOR LEADING A SUCCESSFUL GROUP MASTERCLASS

This study is designed to be suitable for small groups, families, or individuals. If you're participating in a group, choose one person to lead meetings and facilitate discussions. If you are working through this study on your own, continue to Session 1. Be sure to write down your responses to the discussion prompts in a journal or notebook.

Begin with Prayer & Demonstrate Hospitality

Start each meeting with a prayer and choose a comfortable and private location for in-person gatherings. For in-person gatherings, choose a welcoming, comfortable, and private location. Ensure the area is clean, provide snacks, and be mindful of allergies. For online meetings, use a suitable digital platform, set a welcoming tone, and greet members individually.

Know Your Role & Prepare Participants

Embrace your role as a Facilitator, Encourager, and Director of Conversations. Foster discussions, listen actively, and maintain a positive, respectful environment. Prepare participants by sharing the group's vision, format, and goals. Agree on meeting times, and establish clear communication methods both inside and outside of meetings.

Use Communication Expectations & Practice Proper Etiquette

Encourage a respectful, open, honest, and loving group culture. Allow for balance in sharing, listen without interrupting, and maintain confidentiality. For online interactions, ensure members are familiar with the platform's controls, encourage turning video on, and suggest muting when not speaking to reduce background noise.

Engage in Effective Meeting Management

Start and end meetings on time, manage the pace of conversations, and avoid tangents. Utilize prepared questions to stimulate discussion and allow for silent reflection.

Prepare for Challenges

Anticipate spiritual resistance and challenges, rely on prayer, and support from Jesus and His Spirit.

Leader Guide

GROUP LEADER'S 10 COMMANDMENTS

Embrace Openness

Approach discussions with an open heart, humility, and a non-judgmental attitude, ensuring everyone feels valued and loved.

Respect Silence

Understand that silence is a part of the conversation, allowing time for thought and reflection.

Share the Floor

Ensure everyone has the opportunity to speak without any single person dominating the discussion.

Practice Active Listening

Listen attentively and respectfully to what others say, showing genuine interest and understanding.

Avoid Interruptions

Let others express their thoughts without interruptions, fostering a respectful dialogue.

Offer Support

Be encouraging and supportive of others' contributions, helping to build confidence and camaraderie within the group.

Seek Understanding

If something isn't clear, ask clarifying questions to deepen your understanding of the discussion.

Ensure Privacy

What's shared in the group stays in the group. Maintaining confidentiality is crucial for trust and openness.

Engage Visually (Online)

For online meetings, keep your video camera on to facilitate a more connected and engaging discussion.

Minimize Background Noise (Online)

Mute your microphone when not speaking to reduce background noise and distractions, ensuring a smoother conversation for all.

WHAT IS FAMILY IDENTITY?

Icebreaker

What are three words you would use to describe your family's personality or character, and why do those particular words come to mind?

Key Points

Family identity is the combination of four core principles: identity, purpose, direction, and application. It involves understanding who each family member is, recognizing their roles, setting goals for the family's future, and putting these values into action in everyday life.

Identity	Purpose	Direction	Application
Who you are	Why you exist	Where you're going	How you get there

- A Family is made up of individuals with some sense of shared values, purpose, and direction. Direction is our vision, and where there is no family vision, a family has no direction to go.

"Where there is no vision, the people perish..." Proverbs 29:18

- Vision communicates where you're going but begins with who you are today.

- When you know who you are, or who you want to be, then you'll know what to do.

WHAT IS FAMILY IDENTITY?

Discussion Questions

1 What are some qualities or values that you bring to your family? Can you share how these traits show up in your family's everyday life?

2 What are the main values or goals that your family holds dear? How do these shape the choices your family makes or the way you all act together?

3 The verse, 'Where there is no vision, the people perish' was mentioned. What big dream or goal does your family have for the future? How do you all plan to achieve it?

4 How important do you think it is to have a clear idea of what your family stands for? How can knowing your family's values and goals help when things get tough?

5 The idea was to first understand who you are before you can understand your family's identity. Do you see your own values and personality fitting in with your family's? How can understanding yourself better help your family grow stronger?

Video 3

WHAT IS FAMILY IDENTITY?

PRAYER

Heavenly Father,

We humbly come to You with grateful hearts for the opportunity to explore and understand the unique identity that You have created within our family. As we gathered together, we shared our values, goals, and dreams, and we ask for Your guidance to help us align our individual identities to the identity you've given us through Christ. Reveal to us the purpose we have inside our families, and help us to live out the vision our family believes in.

Grant us the wisdom to recognize the strengths and values each of us brings to our family. Help us to weave these individual threads into a strong and cohesive tapestry that honors You. May our shared purpose reflect Your love and light, guiding our actions and decisions.

Bless our journey towards a clearer understanding of who we are and where You are leading us. Let our family not just be a haven of love and growth for us but also a beacon of Your grace to our community and the world.

As we part ways tonight, keep us united in spirit and purpose. May our efforts to build a strong family identity be rooted in Your teachings and inspired by Your unconditional love.

In Jesus' name, we pray,
Amen.

Identifying Core Values

Your life is already shaped by your core values, even if you don't fully realize it.

What are Core Values?

Core Values are the fundamental principles that embody your highest priorities, deepest convictions, and inner motivations. They represent what you stand for at your core. Your personal Core Values are the principles that resonate so deeply with you that they keep you up at night, are worth sacrificing for, and serve as guiding lights for your choices and priorities in life.

Before you begin creating your Core Values, consider the three questions listed below. Your answers to these questions will provide you with insight on the core values you believe to be most important.

- What stirs up righteous anger inside of you?
- What melts your heart when you see it?
- What made you who you are today?

Complete the following steps:

1. On the following page is a list of Core Values. Mark the checkboxes next to the 20 values that resonate with you the most.
2. Then, underline the 10 values that hold significant meaning for you.
3. Afterward, circle the top 5 values from the underlined 10 that truly stand out.
4. Lastly, write your Top 5 Personal Core Values, and write a brief explanation for why each one is important to you.

Dear God,

Thank You for bringing us together as a family. Help us understand and respect what's important to each of us, and show us how to blend our values to make our family strong and loving.

When we have different viewpoints or opinions, help us find ways to remain connected whether we agree or disagree. Guide us when we make decisions, so we always choose what's best for our family and show Your love to each other and others.

Please strengthen our relationships with each other and with You. Teach us to learn from one another and grow closer because of our shared values.

Give us patience and wisdom to understand why we all value different things and show us how to use this understanding to make our family united and caring.

Bless our family, God, and help us be a light of Your love.

Amen.

Identifying Family Core Values

What are Family Core Values?

Family Core Values are the fundamental beliefs that shape how a family interacts and makes decisions. These values, such as honesty, respect, and teamwork, provide a shared framework for unity and growth. They serve as guiding principles, fostering strong bonds and guiding behavior within the family unit.

Before you begin creating identifying your family's Core Values, consider the three questions listed below. Your answers to these questions will provide you with insight on the core values you believe to be most important.

- If you could design a family, what values would it have?
- What are things you have always admired in other families?
- What things does your family naturally live out?

Complete the following steps:

1. On the following page is a list of Core Values. Mark the checkboxes next to the 20 values that resonate with you the most.
2. Then, underline the 10 values that hold significant meaning for you.
3. Afterward, circle the top 5 values from the underlined 10 that truly stand out.
4. Once each member of your family or group has identified their aspirational family core values, work together to agree on 5 Family Core Values that everybody can collectively support.

BUILDING YOUR FAMILY VALUES

Prayer

Dear Lord,

Thank You for the gift of our family. As we reflect on how others see us and how we see ourselves, guide us to understand our true identity in You. Help us to embrace or change these perceptions to better reflect Your love.

Bless the actions and habits that show who we are as a family. Let these practices be a testament to our values and Your presence in our lives. Inspire us to keep traditions that celebrate our unique identity and to create new ones that bring us closer to each other and to You.

As we dream about our family's future, grant us the clarity to see Your vision for us. Show us the steps we need to take to grow together in faith and love. In moments of disagreement or difficulty, teach us to lean on the strength and resilience You've nurtured in us, turning challenges into opportunities for growth.

May our conversations and decisions always be guided by Your wisdom and love, bringing us closer as a family and closer to You.

In Your holy name, we pray,

Amen.

WHAT IS FAMILY PURPOSE?

Prayer

Dear God,

As we gather to explore the purpose and needs within our family, guide us to understand the role You've intended for us. Help us to see how we can fulfill one another's needs, fostering a healthy environment where love, security, and trust flourish.

Illuminate our minds to recognize the best ways to provide love and security, not just to the children among us but to every family member. Teach us to build trust through our actions and words, strengthening our bonds and reflecting Your faithfulness.

Inspire us to be a beacon of Your light, a "city on a hill" that shines Your love and grace to all around us. May our family not only seek to support each other but also extend Your compassion and kindness to our community and beyond.

Grant us the wisdom to live out these principles, drawing closer to each other and to You in the process.

Amen.

His Needs

Honor & Respect

Every man needs honor and respect. If he doesn't receive honor and respect from inside the family, he will search for them outside the family - typically at work. The family needs to honor and respect him in three powerful ways:

As a Provider:

The Needs:

- Recognition and Appreciation: Acknowledge his efforts in providing for the family's financial security and well-being.
- Support and Encouragement: Provide support and encouragement in his endeavors to fulfill his provider role effectively.

As a Problem-Solver:

The Needs:

- Need: Validation of Decision-Making Abilities: Recognize and value his problem-solving skills and decision-making abilities.
- Need: Collaboration and Communication: Foster open communication and collaboration in addressing family challenges together.

As a Leader:

The Needs:

- Need: Respect for Leadership: Respect and acknowledge his role as a leader within the family unit.
- Need: Empowerment and Trust: Empower him to take initiative in guiding and nurturing the family, and demonstrate trust in his leadership abilities.

Consistently meeting these needs strengthens the familial bond and promotes a sense of fulfillment and belonging for men within the family unit. By understanding and addressing the multifaceted roles of men, we create a supportive environment conducive to growth and harmony.

His Needs

Honor & Respect

Remember, men often interprets silence as rejection. Even if he falls short of expectations at times, it's crucial to express love and commitment consistently. Here are some examples of affirmations to reinforce his sense of worth:

- "I'm grateful to have you as my partner."
- "I'm deeply attracted to you."
- "I believe we were meant to be together."
- "I'm proud of your accomplishments."
- "You're an exceptional father."
- "Our family is blessed to have you."
- "Thank you for your hard work and sacrifices for our family."
- "You excel in everything you do."
- "Your leadership inspires me and our children."

By verbalizing appreciation and admiration, we uplift and strengthen the connecti within our family unit.

Her Needs

Love & Security

Understanding the Needs of Women in the Family Unit

Women have two main needs, the first is love. The second is security, within security there are 5 different types:

1. Emotional Security

- Validation and Support: Women need to feel heard and valued within the family. They should feel safe to express emotions without fear of ridicule or dismissal.
- Listening and Understanding: Create an environment where she feels heard and understood, without rushing to offer solutions. Sometimes, she just needs a listening ear.

2. Relational Security

- Priority and Protection: Women desire to know that their relationship with their partner is the top priority within the family. They seek assurance that their partner values and protects the relationship above all others.
- Healthy Relationships: Ensure that all relationships within the family unit are healthy and thriving. Affirm the strength of the marital bond and demonstrate commitment to nurturing it.

3. Spiritual Security

- Spiritual Leadership: Women look to their partners to be spiritual leaders within the family. They seek initiation and guidance in spiritual matters, knowing that their partner values and prioritizes their spiritual well-being.

4. Relational Security

- Financial Stability: Women require confidence in the family's financial stability, encompassing both current financial obligations and future planning.
- Transparency and Involvement: Involve her in creating and sticking to a financial plan. Maintain transparency about financial matters and jointly make decisions regarding expenses and savings.

Her Needs

Love & Security

5. Physical Security:

- Safety and Protection: Women prioritize physical security, both within and outside the home. They seek assurance of safety and protection from their partner.
- Preparedness and Prevention: Take proactive steps to ensure physical security, such as installing quality security systems and creating emergency action plans for various scenarios.

Consistently meeting these needs strengthens the familial bond and promotes a sense of fulfillment and belonging for women within the family unit. By understanding and addressing the multifaceted needs of women, we create a supportive environment conducive to growth and harmony.

Remember, expressing appreciation and admiration uplifts and strengthens the connection within your family unit. Here are some examples of affirmations to reinforce a woman's sense of worth:

- "I am so glad I married you."
- "I have never been so happy in all my life."
- "I am so attracted to you."
- "You are the most beautiful and wonderful woman in the world."

By verbalizing appreciation and admiration, we create a nurturing and loving environment where women feel valued and cherished within our family unit.

Love & Security

Understanding the Needs of Daughters in the Family Unit

When it comes to daughters, there's more than meets the eyes. It's not just about beauty; it's about their creativity, uniqueness, talents, and all those amazing qualities that make them shine. Every daughter craves to be seen, acknowledged for who she truly is. Consider the lengths daughters go to these days just to feel noticed. They're really asking, "What makes me stand out?"

Answering this question within the family lets her know she's seen and valued by the people who matter most.

Am I Beautiful?
That's the biggie. Every daughter carries beauty within, and she needs to feel it deep down. Picture little girls playing dress-up; what's the underlying question? This one. It's the question for every young woman, shaping her perception of herself. With the world constantly dictating standards of beauty, if she doesn't get that affirmation at home, she'll go searching for it elsewhere.

Am I Worth Fighting For?
There are moments when a young woman feels vulnerable, exposed to life's dangers. It's crucial that she knows you've got her back, no matter what. Don't just be a passive observer; show her you're ready to fight for her, inside and outside the family. Otherwise, she might seek that protection elsewhere.

Do You See Me?
This question is loaded more than just beauty, but includes creativity, uniqueness, talent, and everything else that makes her splendid. Every daughter is looking to be noticed and seen. Think of everything daughters in culture are doing today to be seen. They are really asking the question-What makes me special? Answering this question inside the family lets her know she is seen by the most important people to her.

Needs of a Daughter

Love & Security

Here are some empowering statements you can share to uplift the spirits and strengthen the self-esteem of the girls in your family:

- "You're absolutely stunning, inside and out."
- "You mean the world to me; never doubt it."
- "There's something truly magical about you."
- "Let me tell you one thing I absolutely adore about you."
- "You're beautiful just the way you are, no changes needed."

By hitting these emotional checkpoints, you're not just strengthening family bonds; you're giving your daughters the foundation they need to thrive in this crazy world. So, keep those affirmations flowing, and watch your family grow stronger together.

Needs of a Son

Honor & Respect

Understanding the Needs of Sons in the Family Unit

Every son, whether he's already a man or on the path to becoming one, shares similarities with the needs of grown men. But his journey is unique, rooted in his personal identity, shaping the kind of man he grows into.

Am I Important To You?
This is a big one. Every son craves to feel valued, especially by his father. Knowing he's cherished gives him a sense of identity, strength, and purpose. Without this reassurance, he might seek validation elsewhere, be it in sports, work, relationships, or friendships.

Am I Worth Fighting For?
While strength is a core aspect of manhood, there's an inherent value that his family must affirm, especially before he can fight for himself. Your acknowledgment of his worth builds confidence as he grows physically, mentally, and spiritually resilient to tackle life's challenges.

Do I Have What It Takes?
This is the essence of masculinity, as eloquently described in John Eldredge's 'Wild At Heart'. It's the pivotal question every man grapples with, striving to prove himself. Answering it within the family sets the tone for his choices, guiding him towards battles with confidence rather than insecurity.

Your silence speaks volumes, often interpreted by your son as a resounding 'No'. So, it's crucial to address his concerns within the family, affirming his worth with statements like:

- "I'm immensely proud of you."
- "You're absolutely outstanding!"
- "Your talents know no bounds."
- "There's nothing I wouldn't do to support you."
- "You're capable of achieving anything you set your mind to."

By answering his questions and showering him with encouragement, you provide the foundation he needs to navigate his journey into manhood with confidence and purpose.

DISCOVERING YOUR FAMILY PURPOSE

Prayer

Dear God,

Thank you for our time together today, talking and learning about how to be a strong and loving family. We ask for your help to take what we've learned and use it to grow closer to each other and to You.

Please guide us in being a light for others, showing kindness and love just as You do. Help us support one another in our individual journeys, while also working together towards our shared goals.

Give us strength when challenges come, and remind us of the love and commitment we have for each other. Let our actions reflect the values and purpose we've discussed today.

Bless our family, God, as we try to be more like the 'city on a hill' You've called us to be. May our love for one another and for You shine bright.

In Jesus' name we pray,

Amen.

DETERMINING FAMILY DIRECTION

Icebreaker

If you could describe your family's journey or direction using a movie title or a book name, what would it be and why?

Key Points

"The heart of intentional living is having a clear sense of direction."

- Family Direction is the big vision for your family
- Family Direction answers the question, "How will your family impact the world around it?"
- The aim of Family Direction is to shape the course of your family's future.

The Rekabites | An Inspiring Story

Then Jeremiah said to the family of the Rekabites, "This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'You have obeyed the command of your forefather Jehonadab and have followed all his instructions and have done everything he ordered.' Therefore this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'Jehonadab son of Rekab will never fail to have a descendant to serve me.'"
Jeremiah 35:18-19

"Each branch of a family tree has a purpose, to push the next branch up towards the source of light."

Crafting Your Family Vision Statement

In this activity, you will create a family vision statement tailored to your unique values and aspirations. To guide you through this process, we've curated a selection of example vision statements for your consideration.

Reflective Questions

As you review the example vision statements through the QR code below, consider the following questions as you begin to build your family's vision:

- How do you envision God seeing your family?
- How do you want others to perceive your family?
- What purpose(s) do you believe God has called your family to fulfill?
- What legacy do you hope to leave for future generations?

Review Example Vision Statements

Start by scanning the provided QR code as a family. Then, select your highest-ranking Core 4 from the Family ID Assessment: Identity, Purpose, Direction, and Application. Within the examples, you'll find both general and specific statements tailored to different Family Types. Family Types are determined by a family's unique Core 4 Sequence. Use the provided examples as inspiration and craft a vision statement that reflects your family's distinct identity and goals.

WRITING FAMILY GOALS

Icebreaker

What's a fun or unique goal your family has achieved together, even if it's as simple as finishing a puzzle or winning a game night?

Key Points

Setting SMART Goals for Your Family

With clear targets and a shared vision, you'll navigate towards growth and fulfillment together.

What are SMART goals?

Specific	Define what you aim to achieve and the actions you'll take to get there.
Measurable	Determine how you'll gauge success and track progress.
Attainable	Ensure the goal is feasible and within your reach, considering your skills and available resources.
Relevant	Align the goal with your family's identity, purpose, and direction.
Time Bound	Set a deadline for accomplishing the goal to maintain focus and accountability.

Video 10

WRITING FAMILY GOALS

Key Points

Examples of Goals:

Short-term: Commit to daily prayer together as a family.
Longer-term: Plan an annual getaway for quality bonding time.

"Give yourself grace on achieving goals. We all miss at some point."

Guiding Wisdom...

"The plans of the diligent lead to abundance, but hasty shortcuts only lead to ruin." Proverbs 21:5

"A man's heart may plan his course, but the Lord directs his steps."
Proverbs 16:9

Create Your Family Slogan

1. Gather as a family and discuss what you want your slogan to convey about your identity, purpose, and direction.
2. Craft a slogan that is easy to remember and articulate.
3. Ensure your slogan reflects the values and spirit that uplifts and inspires your family.
4. Create a slogan that reflects your family's distinctive personality and values.
5. Once you have a few ideas, seek input from other family members and friends to refine your slogan.

Additional Tips

- Be Creative: Don't shy away from creativity—let your slogan stand out with originality.
- Stay Honest: Ensure your slogan genuinely reflects your family's beliefs and values.
- Embrace Positivity: Your slogan should evoke positivity and pride in your family.
- Stay Flexible: Recognize that your slogan may evolve over time as your family grows and changes.

Heavenly Father,
We gather here today, grateful for the insights and understanding we've gained about our family's identity, purpose, and direction. Lord, bless our path forward as we use this newfound clarity to navigate the challenges that life may present.

Guide us in living out the vision we've crafted for our family, allowing our slogan or catchphrase to be a beacon that lights our way and strengthens our bond. May this mantra remind us of our shared values and the love that binds us, enriching our family life and guiding our actions.

Grant us the courage and wisdom to apply the knowledge and tools we've received from this workshop, to deepen our faith journey and fortify the bonds within our family. Help us to be a living example of Your love, being a source of inspiration and support to those around us in our church and community.

Inspire us to live out our faith externally, making a positive impact on the lives of others, and spreading Your light wherever we go. May our family not just grow in love for each other but also become a testament to Your grace and goodness in the world.

We thank You for Your endless guidance and love. Lead us in Your ways, so that in all we do, we glorify You.

In Jesus' name, we pray,

Amen.
